OUR HISTORY AND THE FRISIAN PROVERBS

An inn has stood on the present site of Van der Valk Hotel Hardegarijp-Leeuwarden since 1839. Over the years, the inn has had several owners and was eventually extended and converted into a hotel. In 1957, the hotel was taken over by Adrianus van der Valk.

In the early 1960s, a local painter regularly carried out painting jobs for Adrianus in his spare time. It was probably during this period that he restored the Frisian proverbs painted on the ceiling beams. In 2007, these sayings were rediscovered between two ceilings and brought back into view.

Sin en wille kin folle tille

Those who enjoy what they do can overcome many hardships.

A saying that perfectly reflects our hotel, where enjoyment and relaxation come first!

De brij is op, it beste fan de dei is wei

The porridge is gone, and the best part of the day is over.

Dy't de nut ite wol, moat se kreakje

If you want to eat the nut, you must first crack it.

Men kin gjin rinnende hynders bisloan

You cannot shoe a horse while it is running.

Eltse waer is nei syn jild

You get what you pay for.

Men moat fier rinne om it better te krijen

You have to go a long way to find something better.

Lang boargjen is gjin kwytskelden

An extended payment period does not mean the debt is forgiven.

De unbesoarge byt, makket de hals wiid

Food tastes better when you have no worries.

(When you don't have to provide for yourself, life is a little easier.)

De tiid hald gjin skoft

Time waits for no one.
